

FBI Chief Warns Nation To Curb Soaring Crime

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, about to enter his 40th year as FBI director, cautioned the nation today that it faces a "raging" crime wave unless crime is curbed.

The head of the federal bureau of investigation said a serious crime wave has increased by 114 per cent since 1950. One major cause, he said, is public apathy toward law enforcement—too many people adopt a "don't get involved" attitude.

"I am confident," he said, "that we can depend on citizens who will report criminal acts and who will testify about them."

Hoover, who was a leading lawyer, Hoover entered the department of justice as chief of the Washington office and in 1935, after two years as chief of the New York office, he became head of the FBI. He is now 68.

Here, in the form of written answers to written questions, are some of the views of the man whose anticrime career has made him a household word.

Q. The FBI has become the symbol in the public eye of a highly efficient law enforcement agency. What is the main reason for this accomplishment?

A. The combined loyalty and sacrifices of thousands of FBI employees—past and present—under the bureau's reputation to day.

Q. Statistics indicate that crime has been increasing in the United States. Just how serious is the crime problem?

A. Preliminary crime statistics for 1962 revealed a 7 per cent increase in the number of serious crimes over 1961. From 1950 through 1962, serious crimes in the United States surged upward by 114 per cent.

Q. These cold facts are sufficient to show that crime is one of the most serious problems facing the nation today. Over a million crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny of $50 and over, and automobile theft were committed in 1962. Serious crime has increased five times faster than the nation's population in the five years preceding 1962.

Freeman Says He Wouldn't Direct Vote

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman emphatically directed today that he would not direct the vote of the farm community in the upcoming election.

Freeman said he was a "free man" and that he and his aides are trying to lift or improve a nation-wide vote of farm-ers on May 20 on a tough new wheat control program.

"I personally would never dream of trying to tell someone how to vote," he said.

Grange Head Says Freeman Stand Right

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The head of the National Grange, the nation's oldest farm organization, says Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has taken the right stand in his fight for a controversial wheat control program.

USA Predicts '63 Spud Crop Surplus

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The agriculture department said today another year of overproduction of potatoes appears likely. In a new report, the department urged growers to abide by planting guides it recommended some time ago.

Reporters indicate that the average of late summer and fall crop potatoes will be 8 per cent above those guides, although one per cent below last year. "A crop of the indicated size," it said, "probably would result in another year of surplus potatoes."

The report also indicates that the average of late summer and fall crop potatoes will be 8 per cent above those guides, although one per cent below last year. "A crop of the indicated size," it said, "probably would result in another year of surplus potatoes."

Birmingham Police Jail Marchers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 3 (AP)—Police used fire hoses, nightsticks and police dogs to disperse hundreds of young Negroes today as they marched in a massive desegregation campaign. The Negroes were not stopped by the hoses, but quickly turned when the dogs were used.

One Negro, William Wayne Parchman, 17, said innocent bystanders including children were hit by the water. Police apparently contained the marchers to the vicinity of the church from which they started. Several groups of Negroes streamed out of the church and started in different directions, continuing the massive campaign started yesterday when nearly 800 youngsters were jailed.

versed, foretells a tragic breakdown of law and order which will require drastic action to avoid chaos.

Q. What is causing this increase in crime?

A. There are any number of factors involved in the cies of prosecuting officials and courts; and the attitude of the public toward law enforcement.

It is my firm belief that the public attitude toward law enforcement is a major and basic cause of the current crime increase. Too many people today are concerning themselves only with rights. They are ignoring responsibilities. Too many citizens have adopted a "don't get involved" attitude about matters of crime.

Mrs. Peterson Shows Banner To ESA Chapter

JEROME May 3—Mrs. Clifton U. Peterson, Jerome, displayed the state banner for members of Alpha Nu chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, at the home of Mrs. Harold Gerber, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Peterson, state president, Idaho Council of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, will present the banner to the state association at the 16th annual convention, May 17 at Mark's Inn, Ida. The banner, made by Mrs. Peterson, is on a blue satin background with detail work in gold felt.

The blue signifies "Fidelity" and the gold is symbolic of "Achievement." Mrs. Peterson designed Greek letters for Epsilon Sigma Alpha, translated meaning, "Pursuit to Learning."

"Symbols on the flag are the torch, the flower of the spirit, the state association at the 16th annual convention, May 17 at Mark's Inn, Ida. The banner, made by Mrs. Peterson, is on a blue satin background with detail work in gold felt."

Social, philanthropy and education are functions of the organization. The international organization donates nearly one-half million dollars yearly and the same amount of hours of work to worthy causes. The state organization has raised nearly $50,000 in the past three years for the Crippled Children's society, which is the state project. They have also aided other charitable organizations.

Mrs. Peterson said this is the first Idaho state banner in the 16-year history of the society. A state banner cannot be purchased. "This is my greatest achievement in sewing yet," said Mrs. Peterson.

Members of Alpha Nu formulated plans for the majority of the membership to attend the convention. The convention theme is "Shades of the old west." The state president will be costume in a can-can dress for the mixer party and other members have planned a dance and costume event in a comic sequence theme.

Mrs. Peterson's theme for this year has been "Our unity, love and loyalty." This will be expressed in her convention program, her message to the members, the installation of officers, and her farewell address. The largest attendance in their history is expected.

Relief Society Holds Fish Fry

CAKLEY May 3—A demonstration of fish-cooking was held at the first ward Relief society meeting. LaDell Handy, Shelby's food store, Burley, presented the demonstration with deep fried fish and shrimp cleaning. Handy pointed out that the proper way to clean shrimp is to place the fish in cold water and peel the tough husk off.

He mentioned that when fish is refrigerated, it should not be wrapped, most people throw fish away thinking it is spoiled because of an odor created by the wrapping.

A luncheon featuring deep fried halibut, shrimp, scallops, perch and cod was served to the Relief society.

A short program honoring visiting teachers of the first ward was held after lunch.

Nixon Move To N. Y. Stirs Speculation

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Richard M. Nixon has stirred up a whole new round of political speculation with his announced intention to move to New York June 1 to practice law.

The former vice president, who missed becoming president by 116,000 votes in 1960, then had a political disaster last year when he lost a bid to become governor of California, made the announcement yesterday in a brief statement handed out by a friend. Nixon could not be reached for comment.

There was some speculation that Nixon's move was a change of political base aimed at trying for the presidency in 1964 from New York state—but some Republican politicians quickly dismissed this.

They said Nixon hardly would have moved to New York as Rockefeller's home state in hopes of picking up support for a presidential bid.

Rockefeller, widely mentioned as a potential 1964 GOP choice for the presidency, said he thinks it is wonderful that Nixon is coming here and said he hopes Nixon will be active in New York politics.

A newsmen asked the governor how he would feel if Nixon supported someone other than Rockefeller. "It's a free country," Rockefeller said.

Wesley Pink has been busy preparing several acres of farmland to plant his watermelon and cantaloupes which he markets from August until frost comes in the fall.

A new coat of paint has been given to the W. W. Knox ranch home in King Hill, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young and family. Young is employed at the Knox ranch north of town.

The King Hill Irrigation district has been using its equipment to level the ground on the old airport south of King Hill. The land belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Rubery who are seeding 25 acres into beets and eight acres into corn. Rubery raised beets and beets on part of the land last year and used the spinning equipment. This year he is going to use row crop irrigation. Lester Hall, employee of the irrigation district, did the leveling.

Earl Gardner, who farms the La Mar Oldberry ranch southeast of King Hill, is planting several acres of corn. He also will plant seven acres of corn on the Arthur O'neer ranch, and will plant corn on the O. W. Bennett ranch which he also has rented for this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Adams, north Shoshone, had three yearling calves, a Shorthorn steer, buller and one Holstein steer die this week. They had been pasturing hay for 10 days and believe the rain had made the feed too wet, bloating the animals.

Herman Braun and Ervin Braun, north Shoshone, helped the Bues brothers dehorn and vaccinate their cattle Tuesday afternoon.

Turtle farmers report considerable damage to new seedlings of alfalfa from mice. As they complete their plowing they are turning up many nests full of young mice.

Many farmers at Tuttle are plowing fields now for planting of row crops including corn and beans. Plowing has been finished by Dan Rao on the Glenn Patterson ranch which he leases.

Pipe for carrying irrigating water has been installed for approximately a quarter of a mile by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Turner on the 12,000-acre ranch south of Tuttle. The pipe has been covered by earth and will facilitate irrigating several fields more efficiently.

It was a wet day for Mr. and Mrs. Omer Shook, north Shoshone, when their 14-year-old pet horse, Patchy, had to be destroyed. The horse jumped over the cab of the pickup truck in which Shook was hauling it and broke a leg. They were almost home after having spent the day helping Jack McMurphy drive cattle. The horse was Arabian and standard bred. She had learned a number of tricks and came running at the sound of Shook's voice.

Entry Deadline Extended For Alpine Summer Camp

The deadline for making application to attend the University of Idaho conservation summer camp at Alpine June 3-8 has been extended until May 6, says Olan Turner, superintendent of the camp. The extension is necessary because of time needed for processing the applications and supplying the camp.

Gain Seen in Federal Crop Insurance

An increase of approximately $6,000,000 of coverage across southern Idaho has been secured this year, over last year, in operations of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation. It was announced Friday by Donald Berntson, Twin Falls district director for southern Idaho and northern Utah.

The increase is noted, he said, even though coverage for beans and potatoes is open until May 15. Applications for coverage on barley and wheat have been closed.

At the present time the counties of Twin Falls, Blaine, and Pocatello are not eligible for potato coverage but a program for the next growing season is being considered.

Bingham county was the potato pilot county in the United States last year, the local official pointed out. The living conditions for expansion is that no more than 100 counties in the nation can be accepted in any one year and no more than three crops can be added to the approved coverage list each year.

Potato coverage in this area is now limited to Cassia and Blaine counties. Local records show that growers who have insured include the Ore-Ida corporation, Burley, E. C. Barker, Twin Falls, and Winslow Whiteley, Oakley. The coverage to the Burley corporation totals nearly 11,000 acres, the official said. The insurance unit office in Twin Falls is located at 625 Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Disaster Action Planned for Salmon Tract; Runoff Falls Below Estimate

By G. H. CHAMBERS

This is a real paradox developing in Twin Falls county this year. One will be able to stand on farmland where adequate water will be forthcoming and throw rocks at some of the driest irrigated land in the Teton mountain area. It will all depend on where you live.

Recent storm activity definitely has boosted irrigation prospects throughout most of Idaho, except southern Twin Falls county and some adjacent areas.

According to reports on the upper Snake river watershed, the recent storm will fill most of the reservoirs and assure some runoff. However, the Salmon and Roseruth tracts, and perhaps areas in Cassia and Owyhee counties, will be facing one of the driest years on record.

Because of this, the Twin Falls county disaster committee has renewed efforts to seek emergency funds to help preserve what meager water there is.

This renewed effort is being pushed in spite of the fact that many areas to the north are concerned with flood programs. The simple truth is that water originating north of the Snake river is adequate or more than adequate. Several dams have reached capacity and will spill moisture has delayed the call for irrigation water.

The weather between Twin Falls and Rogerson is a different story. Heavy rains in Twin Falls and northward barely settled the dust on the Salmon tract. The storms did, however, put some snow on the south hills.

Snow appearing in the south hills sent snow survey teams back into the hills during late April, which is an unusual procedure. Their findings are confusing.

On paper, and in comparison with figures a year ago, it would appear the situation is improved. There is more snow on the watershed in late April of this year than a year ago.

However, it should be pointed out that a year ago at this time the runoff was over and Salmon dam was holding a near record amount of water.

The Twin Falls soil conservation snow survey committee reported at the annual water forecast meeting that if there was a normal spring the water outlook from Salmon Falls reservoir would be 250 of an acre foot per share. Despite the wet spring, the committee now feels that figure is optimistic.

As of May 1 there were 45,000 acre feet of water in Salmon reservoir. The inflow, as reported by the U. S. geological survey at San Juanito, Nev., has been 4,500 acre feet of water since March 1 through May 1. In order to deliver 285 acre feet of water, some 12,000 acre feet of water inflow was needed. Thus, there is a deficiency of 7,500 acre feet of water as of May 1.

The logical question is, is there 7,500 acre feet of water on the mountains south of Twin Falls? The answer is doubtful.

What snow there is may never reach Salmon dam. While the snow pack is the best it has been in weeks, the ground under the snow pack is the driest. The ground may just absorb the melting snow.

This year 1961 was the most recent dry year on record. Inflow during that year was greater than 1963. Visual observation is confusing. Monday many of the creeks were running full or nearly full. By Tuesday morning they were almost dry.

The quick thaw has helped move the water down on the lower slopes, but there is no snow now dry and what flow there is will only last a day or so, at best, unless it rains and rains long and hard.

A long, hard rain would move what snow there is on the mountains into storage. Normal melting will be detrimental.

The water as of May 1 just isn't there. Action taken earlier this year by the disaster committee was to get in to be in order. Letters at that time indicated that Twin Falls county might need a drought disaster program.

A special meeting of the disaster committee was held earlier this week to outline action to get emergency help. The meeting was held at the ASBC office in Twin Falls with representatives of the soil conservation service, soil conservation district, forest service, farmers home administration, Twin Falls county agent, Salmon Falls Canal company and the agricultural stabilization and conservation committee in attendance.

It was noted by Carl Boyd, ASBC chairman, that a similar program was used during 1961. Boyd reported that of the $75,000 given to the program all was used but $15,000, which was returned.

Glenn Nelson, chairman, soil conservation district, noted that one of the main drawbacks to the 1961 drought disaster program was that funds arrived too late to be of full benefit. It is hard to install concrete ditches during the middle of the irrigation season.

Nelson and several others urged that the request for assistance get moving immediately to be of maximum benefit.

"Unfortunately," was pointed out that Washington is only interested in immediate steps that could be taken to preserve the next crop and it might be difficult to get a drought disaster program adjacent to areas where money is being spent for flood disaster programs.

Because of the seriousness of the existing situation, more serious than in 1961, it was felt by the group that the request should be filed.

The drought disaster area would be all of Twin Falls county lying south of the Highway 20 canal, excluding the Clover tract. A list of water conserving practices was drawn up that could be put into effect in the county. They included:

Livestock wells to supply water to livestock; it was pointed out that many farmers use reservoirs as now hauling water to livestock.

Development of springs for domestic use. This could include plastic pipelines from springs to livestock watering ponds.

Construction of dams, levees and ponds to store water and catch waste water. It might seem unusual to have waste water on a drought area, but most irrigation projects have waste water under the best of conditions and it was felt that the waste water could be put to better use if it could be caught and reused. With 255 of an acre foot, this is almost mandatory.

Construction of pipelines a hard chore. Many Salmon tractors can lose 25 to 50 cent of their delivered water through seepage. There are many places in the tract where pipelines and ditches have resulted in water savings of 50 per cent.

It was felt that if match crop funds could be available early enough to benefit 2 years' crop, many would participate in the program who did not under the 1961 program.

The per farmer limit was set at $2,500, which is identical with the 1961 limit. It was not that deep irrigation wells have proved unsatisfactory and they wouldn't be requested.

One farmer commented that costs under the 1961 program were as much as to 4 care of weeds as some crops, 4 weeks might be the only crop grown on the tract.

The formal application will be filed with the state ASBC and copies of letters will be forwarded to all appropriate officials.

More Wilderness, Desert Embraced in Western States Than Productive Area

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The 11 Western States and the Mountain and Pacific regions sprawl over two-fifths of the nation's land area. Their vast embrace, however, sweeps in more wilderness and desert and mountain peaks than it does productive soil.

Altogether, only 15 per cent of all the cropland in the United States lies within the far-flung reach of these "states," Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, Oregon, Washington and California.

A study by the agriculture department's economic research service shows that the western farmer has made good use of his acreage. In 1959, the western farm output was worth $6 billion dollars. This was nearly one-fifth of the total U. S. cash farm receipts. Though the West yields a big proportion of the major U. S. crops—a fourth of the food grains, a fifth of the cotton, nearly half of the fruit and vegetables, and more than about three-fourths of all the seed crops and sugar beets.

The filed crops produced in the West in 1959 were worth $3.4 billion dollars. The western share of crop production amounted to 22 per cent of the U. S. total.

Without the Western states there would have been no tomatoes, apricots, figs, walnuts, olives or hops. There would have been few peaches or plums, and less than half the usual supply of grapes, avocados, nectarines, cherries and strawberries.

Salted bowls would be meagerly filled if it weren't for the West. The Pacific and Mountain States supply 50 to 100 per cent of the

Grassman Event Slated in Blaine

HAILEY, May 3.—A grassman of the year project is being planned for Blaine county this year. Two tours to inspect grassland projects were planned at a meeting last week at the Star cafe.

The American society's range management tour will be June 10-12, starting at 9:30 a.m. from the highway 93A cafe at Carey.

Another tour by the Grassman committee, and the county cattlemen's association will be held but no definite date has been set.

Theodore Uhrig was re-elected chairman of the committee and Norman O. Warren was re-elected secretary.

Horse Entered

HANSEN, May 3.—Ninety-one colts and fillies, including Florida, Star, Cub, owned by Bill and Vera Moore, are on the final official eligible list for the Yakima Meadows Futurity, the richest Quarter Horse in Pacific Northwest history.

Herman O'Brien, Quarter Horse racing secretary at Yakima, said at least seven 330-yard time trials will be run May 5. The 16 finalists will be selected on the fastest time basis.

GIRL WINS

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., May 3.—Mary Alberta Sink, Lexington, N. C., has captured the 1963 National Champion-Hole-in-One award. She's the first North Carolina youth to win in the Hole-in-One association of America's annual contest in its 21 year history.

Carnation-Albers CALF PLAN

This plan was developed on Carnation Milk Farm to raise dairy herd replacement calves more economically, more efficiently and more simply than any other practical program being offered dairymen today. More than any other factor, the way a buller calf is fed and managed for the first 6 months determines his profit-producing value as a cow. For this reason the Carnation-Albers Calf Plan has also been called the 6 months Calf Rearing Plan. The heart of the program is to get the calf off liquid and onto the right kind and quality of dry feed at an early age. This develops the growing heifer into a robust, dependable animal with large capacity for consuming low cost roughage and converting this into nutrients for milk production.

- CARNATION-ALBERS CALF PLAN IN 8 SIMPLE STEPS
1. Start calf on Calf Manna the first day.
 2. Feed Colostrum milk for first few days.
 3. Follow Colostrum with Suckle liquid feeding.
 4. Begin feeding leafy, good quality hay by second week.
 5. Provide salt block and water free choice.
 6. Reduce Suckle quantity as calf eats more Calf Manna.
 7. Provide Complete Calf Ration plus straight Calf Manna until eating 3 lbs. Ration per day.
 8. Supply Complete Calf Ration at rate of 1 lb. per month of age.

Ways Sought to Make Feed Tasty

WASHINGTON, May 3.—More research on making feed and forage more tasty to livestock was a top recommendation from recent meeting of one of the U. S. department of agriculture's advisory committees.

Data About Bean Prices Is Reported

EROSHORE, May 2—According to Eugene Alexander, Lincoln county agriculture stabilization and conservation service committee chairman, the $5.32 support of prices for the 1963 crop of dry beans is approximately 87 percent of the current dry bean market price. The 1962 crop support price reflected 70 percent of the January, 1962, parity price.

Actually, the support will be the same as in 1962 supports for 31 classes of dry beans, based on the national average price.

Classes of dry beans for which price support will be available are the same as for last year and include pinto, great northern, pea and medium white, small white and flat small white, red kidney, pink, small red, large lima and baby lima beans.

The chairman said the support paid for pinto beans is $5.24 per hundredweight, U.S. No. 1 grade, cleaned and bagged with all charges, except handling and loading out, paid through maturity dates for price-support loans on the 1963 crop. Other support rates are small red, $7.22; great northern, $6.82 and kidney, $6.41. Premiums and discounts for the 1963 program are the same as under the 1962 program. As under past programs, bean prices will be supported through loans and purchase agreements, available from harvest time through Jan. 31, 1964. Loans will mature on April 30, 1964.

The contestant will be a daughter of a farm bureau member.

Mrs. Dean Westhaver, announced that the topic for life talk meet and talent fund this year is "What Shall We Do For Farmers?" District, state and national participation is limited to people under 17.50 in time-Deborah-1963, and who are members.

Committees (a and c) committees, however, are urged to have younger participants also in their local meets, to give them experience, she said.

Jim Grant gave reports on livestock and Erich Wegner reported on potatoes. Shouse said the sharp increase in the price of sugar may hurt beet growers because of increasing use of substitutes such as corn syrup and sorbitol.

Discussion was held on taxes and ways of raising more money for schools. Philip Cochran reported that the county Farm Bureau membership has exceeded quota for this year.

Magic Valley Converts Pocatello Errors Into Early Lead and 4-1 Win

POCATELLO, May 3 (AP)—Magic Valley took advantage of two Pocatello errors to grab a lead and went on to defeat the Chiefs 4-1 Thursday night. The Chiefs threatened several times but couldn't bring the men home. They left 14 stranded in the third, after a 20-minute delay because of rain, when catcher Ralph Platt tied off with a single, moved to third on a single by Dan Simmons and tallied on a single by Mike Marshall. The Pokes took advantage of two Pocatello errors in the fourth. Al Johnson singled and a throwing error on a double play ball that went into left field for another bobbie allowed one runner to score while Jim Campbell went to third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Randy McGraw.

Cowboys Open 6-Day Stand Here Saturday

Pioneer league leading Magic Valley, off to the best start since 1967, returns to Twin Falls Saturday night to open a tough six-day stand against Great Falls and Billings. The Great Falls Electric, with whom the Cowboys have had a running feud both on the field and in attendance for the past two years, move in for the first three-game set at 7:30 p. m. Saturday and will play a game Sunday at 2 p. m. Billings makes its first appearance in Jayco on Tuesday night.

Three special nights are on tap, announces general manager Warren E. (Ben) Jewell. Safety stores will provide free gifts and three 15-cent Saturday night—on a centennial—observance slated Sunday afternoon. Shelby's markets will provide free tickets and numerous prizes for Monday's finale with the Electric.

Magic Valley fans also will have one of their "Raid Home" games in Great Falls manager Al Roneing. In his third year at the helm, Roneing has been one of the league's most colorful characters and crowd stimulants and seems to always have been at his best in Jayco.

Cowboy manager Willis (Moore) Johnson expects Billings to be a solid threat to repeat. The Mustangs once again will bring along a left-handed pitcher, batting lineup and a solid pitching staff.

MARKETS AND FINANCE

Stocks

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Stocks had a turnabout over the noon hour today and finished easier on active trading.

Brokers were dismayed over the increase in volume as prices declined, an adverse technical condition which started yesterday.

Earlier, prices had advanced and the Dow Jones Industrial section and the Dow Jones Industrial section and the Dow Jones Industrial section.

Barber Oil was a standout with a large gain in an otherwise quiet petroleum section.

South Puerto Rico Sugar lost more than one point, taking the gain from the previous day.

Alcoa made headway in the metals after a selective price increase.

Other aluminum stocks kept pace. Grumman rose a gain in the aircrafts and Illinois Central retraced some in the rail.

ACP Industries went ahead after directors boosted the quarterly dividend and proposed a two-for-one stock split.

Many brokers hold the view that the current advance may run out of steam by reaching the high of 234.92 in the Dow Jones Industrial average.

They attribute the market's move forward to a number of factors, including a mixed employment picture, and a slackening in department store sales and consumer spending.
